This area is over-saturated with houses. We want no further large developments.

All the proposed developments appear to be carried out on agricultural land? Although this land may be not of the highest quality, it is surely far more beneficial to be retained in its current state to both the area and the country as a whole, to sustain an ever-swelling population

If further building work is to be carried out, there are large swathes of land which are unable to support much, or indeed any, plant growth due to never having being topsoiled to a suitable depth following past mining activity. These are areas that should first be reclaimed and brought to a suitable state to support building.

The current road lay-out in the area is far from adequate and really ill-maintained for its current usage, therefore to add further traffic is inviting even more problems.

As an example, Five Ways island has been a bottleneck for many years. As far back as 2005/6 improvements were due to be made but nothing materialised, although many new houses, and therefore cars/vans/trucks, have appeared.

Schools, medical facilities, shops all seem to have been ignored, but a pressing need for all is required.
